An Introduction to Social Media Navigating the World of Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn

Webinar Description

In today's world, social media has become increasingly important in the way we conduct business and grow our careers.

Staying connected with current and potential business partners via social media is the new norm.

If you don't feel comfortable using social media, or don't really know where to start, this webinar is for you.

Integra's social media team will be going over the basics of how to open and operate a LinkedIn, Twitter and Facebook account.

This introductory session is going to cover all the basics to get your social media life started.
